

Innovative products

As of today, we still haven't found a cure for a lot of diseases.

By connecting its own expertise with patients' needs, Sanofi focuses its efforts on public health issues: diabetes, cancer, age-related diseases, rare diseases, and infectious diseases.

To increase efficiency, Sanofi works with its partners...so that patients can benefit as quickly as possible...from therapeutic innovations.

In oncology, for example, innovation takes shape in...personalized medicine.

Today, we no longer treat a specific type of cancer...but the distinctive features of a tumor.

Sanofi's research teams are currently working on over sixty projects, new molecular entities and vaccines.

So that innovation materializes for patients.
